Venom meets the Gravemind: Two Symbiotes meet!

"Where? Where are we?" Venom asked, as he started to open his eye lids.

"What is this place?" He asked, as he observed his surroundings. Everything was covered in some sort of disgusting, repulsive substance. It was like this place was a room where one person threw up ten thousand times. It was disgusting, utterly detestable.

The black super villain looked at his body which was covered by the same orange substance that contaminated his whole surroundings.

He roared, as he tried to use his strength to break out of the substance.

He succeeded, without a doubt, and fell to the ground with a thud.

Suddenly, he heard a strange and quiet sound. He turned around to see strange bulges growing on the side of the walls.

"How disgusting." He spat, as he saw the Flood Growth Pods moving up and down slightly.

"Where's the exit?" He asked, as he looked here and there. Finally, he found a door. _Jackpot._ He thought as he began to walk towards the door.

Suddenly the ground began to shake.

"What's going on?" Venom asked.

"_**This is not your grave, creature of companionship. But you are welcome in it**_." A dark and sinister voice echoed.

"Who are you?" He asked.

"**Who am I?**" The Creature roared. "**I am the monument to all your sins.**"

Venom shivered at the Creature's words.

Suddenly the door opened. Out came creatures that Venom didn't seem to recognize. They looked disgusting, a representation of all the filth that existed in the world.

They had tendrils sticking out from nowhere, but the hands and the legs were easily seen.

But suddenly one of the creatures jumped from the door, and landed in front of Venom.

He recognized one of the creatures, as it wore a ripped but recognizable costume.

"Parker?" Venom asked, as the Creature attempted to attack him head on.

Venom dodged the attack easily. His rival was now slower than before.

"So you want to play that game huh?" Venom taunted the Infected Flood creatures. "Come and get us!"
